

PAM NEWS

Volume 3

August - September 2002

Editorial

Hi colleagues!

Once more welcome back to the third issue of PAM NEWS. This time we have received many articles from our colleagues but due to lack of spaces some of these articles will appear in the next issues.

Based on our monthly continuous education program we have this time chosen to explore certain articles on dermatology -namely Acne and Psoriasis.

One of our responsibilities as pharmacists mean that we must strive to communicate well. Hence an update on improving our communication skills.

Our next issue of PAM NEWS will be dealing exclusively with diabetes. We look forward to any of your contributions on this subject in terms of articles.

Enjoy your reading & awaiting your views.

Message from our President

It is with great enthusiasm and pleasure that we are bringing to you the latest issue of PAM NEWS. As you must have noticed we have been organising every month new programs where the attendance has been increasing. Just to note that the last one on Dangerous Drugs Act at IBELOISE (Le Caudan) we had 108 pharmacists present. We remain grateful to those who participate as well as those who conduct our programs without forgetting our sponsors.

Lately we have had pharmacists complaining of not having been invited for certain update. May I mention that we give priority to PAM members first of all and now and again we do call all pharmacists. Eventually I advise all pharmacists to register themselves as PAM members so as to benefit all our programs.

This year, the executive committee is organising the first ever-residential conference on Diabetes on November 16th and 17th. Again I recommend that you confirm your participation as soon as you get the invitation and application forms, as rooms are limited. The package offered will be beneficial to you as well as your family.

I would like to congratulate the fabulous team working to offer you all these events. Keep in touch, join us and see you soon.
